Create a Sorry Day Bracelet

What you need:

- Embroidery thread in colours of the Aboriginal (or Torres Strait Islander) flag.
  - Scissors
  - Sticky tape
- Cut your threads into equal lengths (approx. 25cm).
  - Line the various coloured threads side-by-side and secure them together with a knot.
  - Sticky tape the end of the threads to a table or ask a friend to hold the end of the threads.
  - Plait the threads together (younger children might find it easier to twirl two pieces of thread).
  - Secure the plait by tying another knot at the end of the thread length and cut any excess.
  - Tie the Sorry Day bracelet to your wrist and wear it as a pledge of support for the rights of the Stolen Generations, their families and communities.
